

COREL ANNOUNCES WINNER OF EURO 2004 COMPETITION

CENTRAL POINT WINS LUXURY TICKET PACKAGES TO THE EUROCUP FINAL 2004

London, UK – 15 June 2004 – Corel, a leading technology company specialising in graphics and office productivity software, today announced the winner of its Euro 2004 European channel partner competition – Central Point Europe B.V., Holland.

All Corel resellers who achieved a targeted sales increase were automatically entered into the Prize Draw for the package, which includes: return flights and transfers, accommodation, hospitality tickets to the final on 4th July 2004 in Lisbon, champagne reception, complimentary bar and post-match refreshments, and a four-course meal with fine wines and cigars.

Amanda Bedborough, executive vice president of EMEA -Corel, drew one winning company ticket on 9th June 2004. Central Point was notified immediately and the company name will be publicised on the Corel Partner Extranet (www.corelpartners.co.uk). Central Point has confirmed that Mr. B.J. Speelman and Mr. S. Hooft will be the recipients of the prize.

“Central Point is the lucky winner of this great prize, although all our resellers that achieved their targets and were entered into the Prize Draw did extremely well,” says Steve Winfield, sales director Northern Europe for Corel. “As the opening matches kick off in Portugal, Mr. Speelman and Mr. Hooft will no doubt be looking forward to jetting over there for the final on 4th July. We had such a positive and immense response to this competition and will shortly be running more incentive schemes, as planned.”

Resellers can find details of further channel incentive schemes in due course, by registering/logging onto www.corelpartners.co.uk.
